'Good and Noble Causes' Get Tax Money Handouts

Ask a silly question and get a silly answer. Ask a tax question of a lawmaker and expect to get gobble-dyhook.

Ask state Senator Bill Richardson about taxes and he'll tell you more than you really wanted to know. But what he tells you is factual and maddening.

We don't know who asked him the question but he answered it in a report to the media last week and his answer is certain to make many taxpayers angry.

The question was "where do your income taxes go after you stay up half the night meeting the April 15 deadline?"

Oh! Bill Richardson has a cute way of presenting things. He allows the necessary amount of sarcasm to percolate through; but no one questions his expertise on such matters.

In his answer he asked our understanding that the Federal Congress works long hours to determine the proper use of our tax dollars.

"After much thought," reports Richardson, "they turn billions over to federal agencies to hand out to good and noble causes."

"For example, the bureaucracy is very concerned about the religious lives of American citizens. To determine what spiritual views we hold, the government spent $350,000 to find out."

"Their conclusion? That 43 per cent of us believe in the devil. 'Maybe the government will commission a study to find out who cares!'"

He also uncorks a list of other programs that may be responsible for a budget that is far out of balance.

Wondering what might cause stress and tension as we move through our daily paces, the bureaucracy gave a university professor $431,000 to study the conditions under which rats, monkeys and human beings clench their jaws. The report concluded that drunk monkeys clench their jaws more slowly than sober monkeys. That's got to be vital information for a harried taxpayer!

The use of marijuana has also been an object of government concern. Have they been using our dough to discourage the use of the weed? Not on your bippy. One study, costing $80,000 set out to determine how pot smoking affected the ability to recognize smiles and frowns. Another marijuana study spent $12,000 to find out how it affects "he-n" and "she-n". These tests were conducted by paying college students $20 a day to smoke pot and watch pornographic movies.

Sexual themes are not of uncommon interest to bureaucrats. For only $342,000 the government found out whether or not college students have premarital sex. Then they spent another $342,000 to investigate the use of birth control methods by unmarried students.

Richardson noted that $100,000 was spent to purchase coupons for uh, well male birth control devices. Then the coupons were sent to 43,000 young men in selected cities who had been classified as "sexually active."

Just another impregnable idea supported by our tax dollars. As an afterthought to the foray into the sexual arena, the government spent $132,000 to discover why people fall in love.

The people in government are also vitally interested in what goes on in the home. To focus on an everyday chore, $113,000 was spent to study why mothers prefer no-iron clothing. A dime phone call to any housewife could have gotten this information!

Meanwhile, the consumers products commission, ever on guard of the public's interests, spent $142,000 to investigate why people slip in the bathtub.

Washington spared little expense to keep its federal employees happy. 800 officials now enjoy the luxury and status of being chauffeured around around the capitol in limousines, and that is a decrease. White House employees, meanwhile, were spending $96,000 a year on picture framing.

But let us not overlook what's going on in our own backyard. The California Arts Council found these expenditures vital to the well-being of California taxpayers.

To something called "The Dolphin Embassy Project" the state gave a chunk of our money for the construction of musical instruments to be played to whales and dolphins.

For $2,000 the Arts Council underwrote a rain ceremony. Of course, they held the rain dance where it would do the most good—in the middle of the Mojave Desert.

Your Arts Council gave $5,000 to an independent film producer to document for history the theories and beliefs of the Royal Chicano Air Force, wherever and whatever it might be.

The Taxpayers got a lot of activity for their money in one project. For only $1,200 we got banners dropped by helicopters, 77 paintings sealed in a box and sunk in a river, a metal disc thrown into the muck of a Sacramento Delta slough, and, in addition to all that, the whole thing was filmed for posterity.

Unfortunately, all but one reel of film was lost.

Then there was the $2,000 the Arts Council used to underwrite a project to create architectural sculptures from used beer cans (Billy Carter would have loved that).

And so you see our tax dollars are in good hands. They are part of a sacred trust between the governing and the governed that will last forever—or as long as we allow it.

Vote for Jarvis and Gann for President!

The all-new 108th edition of Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey Circus opens its San Diego engagement Wednesday, July 12, at 8 p.m. at the Sports Arena.

Appearing in the 3 rings will be such circus favorites as Charly Baumann with his 15 ferocious tigers and daredevil Elvin Bale in an aerial free-flight.

New acts in this year's edition of the Greatest Show on Earth include trainer Jewell New in his debut with 15 lions, the Kondovi Troupe of high-wire experts from Bulgaria and the King Charles Troupe performing on unicycles.

In addition to opening night, circus performances are scheduled at 2:30 and 8 p.m. July 13, 14, 11 a.m., 3 and 8 p.m. July 15; and 1:30 and 5:30 p.m. July 16.

Hearings To Probe Pest Control Abuse

Two state agencies are joining together to probe into possible illegal and unethical conduct by real estate agents and structural pest control operators.

Department of Real Estate Director David H. Fox and Department of Consumer Affairs Director Richard B. Spohn have announced that their departments have scheduled a statewide series of public investigative hearings to determine the extent and nature of any abuses.

"With 697,000 structural pest inspection reports filed last year," Spohn said, "the daily marketplace interaction between pest control inspectors and real estate agents creates many opportunities for consumer abuse."

Fox said, "Consumers have complained bitterly about the apparent conspiratorial relationships. These hearings will focus on the extent to which such illegal relationships permeate the marketplace."

The fact-finding hearings will also explore:

Whether real estate agents steer the customers to specific inspectors under kickback arrangements;

The real estate agent's role in selecting a qualified inspector and his/her instructions relative to the extent and cost of inspection;

Standards of pest control inspections, the qualifications of inspectors, standardization of structures to be included in inspections, types of tests performed, and methods and tools used;

The value of inspection disclosure requirements, such as previous pest control reports and discrepancies between them.

The Department of Consumer Affairs is the watchdog agency over the structural pest control operators through its Structural Pest Control Board. The Department of Real Estate licenses and regulates the conduct of more than 350,000 real estate agents throughout the state.

The hearings will be chaired by Fox and Spohn. Participating panel members are Neil Good, a public member of the Structural Pest Control Board, and Larry Alamao, an attorney of the Department of Real Estate.

The local hearing will be held July 13, 10 a.m., San Diego Gas and Electric Company Auditorium, 101 Ash st., San Diego.

The meeting is open to the public. Anyone interested in testifying is urged to contact offices of the Department of Real Estate or the Department of Consumer Affairs in Sacramento, Los Angeles, San Francisco, San Diego, Fresno or Santa Ana.

LG 'Welcome' Sign Draws Fire From Former Rotary Presidents

By Max Goodwin

The welcome sign was out but a rumble of dissent was heard even as it was dedicated Friday at a press affair called by L.G. Chamber of Commerce president Olin Thompson.

The "Welcome to Lemon Grove" sign, installed on the railroad plaza near Lemon Grove's City Hall, at 3568 Main st. had been given some compliments but had also earned a number of complaints.

Complaints included that the sign is small, low and is hard to see from the Lemon Grove ave. off-ramp. And it is next to impossible to see by those leaving the city by the same ramp.

The latter should be of little concern since there is no valid reason for saying "hello" to those to whom the city should be saying "goodbye."

Loudest protests came from members of the city's service clubs.

Meyer Zung, past president of the L.G. Rotary Club and one of its founders, recalled that Col. Thomas S. Clayton, another past president, had started the project by which the Rotary club would take the lead in erecting a masonry installation which would carry the insignia of the town's clubs, topped by a flag flying high in the sky, illuminated at night so that it could be legally flown 24 hours a day. "I am extremely disappointed in the sign," Zung said.

Others who voiced disappointment were Dr. Harry Sorteberg, also a Rotary past president, and Oral Carpenter, a heavy contributor to the Rotary club fund. The fund, approximately $1,600, had not been used during the past several years awaiting other organizations to join in the project.

The L.G. Rotary club had made $500 of the fund available for the present sign, according to Leonard Klein, current Rotary club secretary.

Thompson said prior to the dedication that contribution of material and labor had reduced the sign's cost to approximately $300. The sign's height, he said, was dictated by the S.D. Arizona & Eastern Railway regulation that any structure must not interfere with the locomotive engineer's vision regarding traffic. The sign is not in line with any crossover traffic, however.

Robert Russell, past president of the L.G. Lion's club and past district cabinet secretary, had provided blueprints of a masonry project that would be installed at Broadway and Imperial—at the city's major intersection. It was somewhat in the fashion of the Rotary club's plan which has lain fallow for several years after Col. Clayton's death.

Russell noted that the Rotary fund, plus a Lion's club contribution, $1,000 that the City had indicated it would underwrite, plus commitments made by Russell's firm plus offers by several other firms, would have covered the cost of an elegant structure estimated to cost about $3,000.

Thompson said the present sign could be moved to another part of the City if a more attractive sign was desired. "No one had done anything about installing a sign until we (the L.G. CofC) did. Now there is one."

Apparently no blue prints had been submitted since the project was built from material and labor available at the time.

Thompson had asked for volunteers to help build the sign at the June meeting of the Chamber of Commerce. Only he and a couple of others showed up at the Sunday morning work project.

City Bankroll Lifted $70,000

Approximately $70,000 is the City of Lemon Grove's apportionment of cigarette, highway users and motor vehicle license fee taxes for June, it was announced last week by the State Office of the Controller. The state collects these taxes and takes off about 1/2 of 1 per cent for administrative costs.

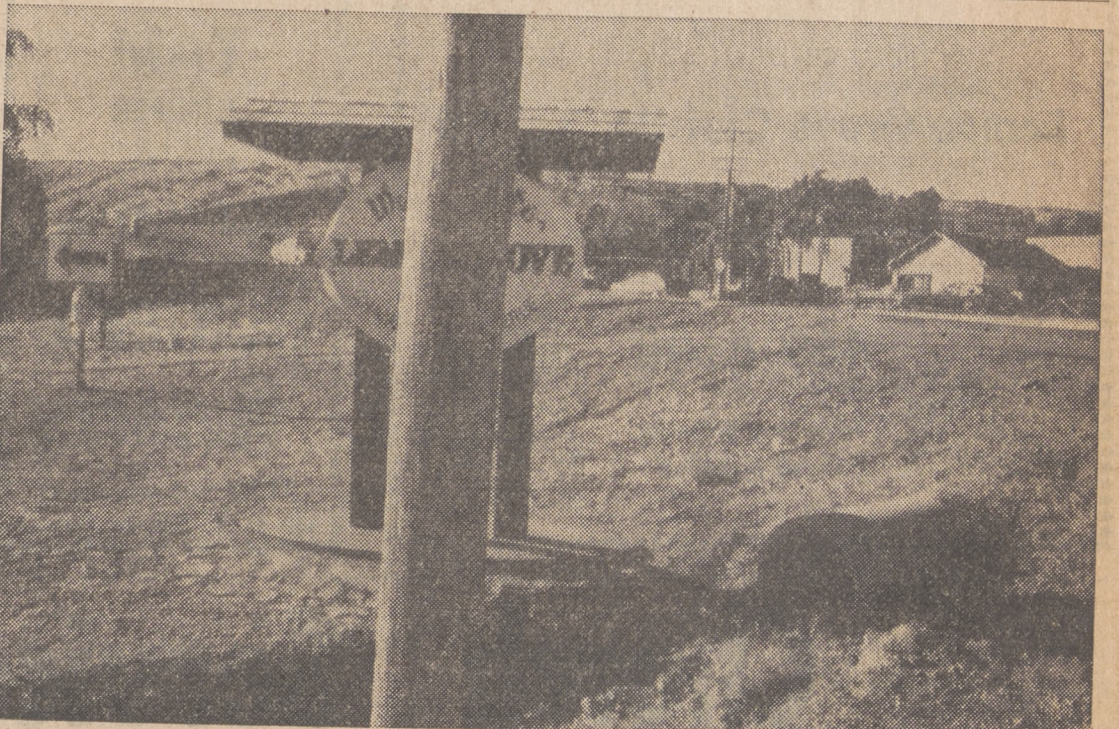

Breakdown:

Cigarettes $6,813
Highway Users $23,513
Vehicle Licenses $39,877
For comparison, San Marcos received $35,000
Imperial Beach, $50,000
Coronado, $55,000

Red Cross Leadership Center helps youth develop leadership skills and offers training in a variety of Red Cross services. To apply, contact Carol Day at the Red Cross at 291-2620. Applications will be accepted until August 4.

WELCOME TO WHERE? — The Lemon Grove Chamber of Commerce's new "Welcome to Lemon Grove Sign" may look OK from the freeway off-ramp, but it's lost in the clutter to anybody looking at it from the Lemon Grove side, prompting one observer to ask "It is a sign with a drainpipe beside it or a drainpipe with a sign beside it?"

Tax, Rent Help Still Available to Seniors

A number of older Californians are asking about the effect of Proposition 13 on the state's senior citizens property tax and rent assistance programs, according to the Franchise Tax Board.

"Both the Senior Citizens Property Tax Assistance and the Senior Citizens Rent Assistance programs remain in effect and the filing period is now open," Don Whitney, director of Senior Citizens Programs, said.

The department mailed claim forms on June 13 to all seniors who claimed property tax or rent assistance last year. The filing period ends October 2.

"These are the proper forms and any qualified homeowner or renter should complete and mail the forms to the department. It is very important also to use the label that came with the form," Whitney said.

Senior citizens can obtain help with their claims. A State representative will be in El Cajon at Wells Park, 1153 Madison ave., between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. on July 7.

Requirements and benefits are unchanged from last year. The law requires that claims be renewed each year, although the claimant has to provide proof of age only with the first year of filing.

Homeowners must be 62 or older as of December 31, 1977, must own and occupy their home and have $12,000 or less total household income. Reimbursement can vary from 4 to 96 per cent of the property tax paid, depending on income.

Renters also must be 62 or older as of December 31, 1977, must pay at least $50 a month rent on their residence and have $5,000 or less total household income.

The residence must be located in California and cannot be exempt from the payment of either property taxes or an amount in lieu of property taxes.

People filing for the first time may get a form by writing to Senior Citizens Programs, P.O. Box 1588, Sacramento CA 95807, or by calling the toll free number in the phone book white pages under "California, State of."

There's An Answer

by Norman Vincent Peale and Ruth Stafford Peale

Mother attempts suicide

Q. My parents are divorced after 35 years. My mother is unable and unwilling to accept this. Her depression has been extreme. She attempted with near success to kill herself. I have tried to help the best way I know. My heart aches that my mother does not know Christ and His healing love. How do my brother, sister and I handle all this? What direction should we take in dealing with her?

A. You must help your mother to find peace of mind and to accept the fact that her marriage is ended.

And how do you do that? One way is to reason with her and help her understand that the marriage is over and finished. Every human being has to accept the inevitable and the factual. Try to interest your mother in family affairs, church activities, and bring her into contact with pleasant, friendly people.

You are quite right in your feeling that she needs to know the Lord's healing love. You can help pray her into that.

We have a booklet, "You've Got a Future," that has helped others with questions such as yours and a copy of it is on its way to you. Anyone else wishing a free copy may write to us in care of Box 500, Pawling, NY 12564.

Afraid to move in with a man

Q. I've known this 21-year-old man for two-and-a-half years, and he wants us to move in together. In a way I want to, but then again I'm afraid of being hurt by him again. He lied to me when he was messing around with a younger girl — seeing me and lying to her too. He has had a child by her, and now he says he loves me. I do love him and want to be with him 24 hours if I could. But I feel I'm not wanted by him most of the time we're together except for sexual reasons. I'm very confused. I feel so lonely and know I need to get myself together. But how? Please give me some advice.

A. Really, it is hard to understand how you would be taken in once and yet seem about to be taken in again. Let's face it, this man appears to be interested in you only for your physical body. How can you be so confused? Pull yourself together. Think straight. Take charge of your life.

This man doesn't love you. Forget him or you will constantly be in misery.

Too late for apologies

Q. My brother and I had an argument over the phone, and we exchanged angry words. He was intoxicated, but I wasn't. And I know I did wrong by this. The day following I got the news that my brother had died suddenly. I didn't have a chance to ask his forgiveness. I have repented and asked God to forgive me, but the thought of it still haunts my mind. I know when we hurt someone we are supposed to go to them and apologize but what do you do in a case like this when it's too late?

A. First you must realize that your brother understood you and therefore knew that your anger was only surface, that beneath it you loved him very much. You must not berate yourself that you did not apologize, for he knew that you would ultimately do that, as he would have done also.

From the height of eternity, where he is, all human quarrels are minuscule, indeed. Just go on loving him in memory and all will be well between you.

If there is something you would like to ask Dr. and Mrs. Peale to discuss in this column, write to them in care of Box 500, Pawling, NY 12564.

SD Blood Bank Seeks More Donors

Summer is one of the most critical times of the year for the community blood supply in San Diego County, according to figures compiled at the San Diego Blood Bank. During the summer months' blood donations decrease by 5 per cent. At the same time injury causing auto accidents alone increase by 11 per cent according to the San Diego Chapter of the National Safety Council.

As a result, the San Diego Blood Bank is requesting persons of all blood types to become volunteer donors at the San Diego Blood Bank, 440 Upas st. or at one of the county-wide bloodmobile locations during the month of July. More information at 296-6393.

Newest Book Will Please Those Who Love Horses

By Max Goodwin

Joyce Press of San Diego has published an engaging book about horses with the untidy title "Horses Don't Care About Women's Lib."

It is a compilation of newspaper articles by Don Blazer of Riverside whose syndicated columns "Of Course, A Horse" appears in many newspapers.

After the first chapter which is elementary, the book takes off in a fulfilling series of interesting observations and useful information about horses, the popular breeds, their history, care and training together with a revealing peek behind the scenes of horse competition—from the rider's view as well as the judge's. A chapter covers the scene from horse show to the popular gymkhana.

Some of the articles include dressage and what it means; a horse's eye view of training, and one on various popular breeds of horses.

There is also a chapter on horses' relation to history. For example, Paul Revere's ride, made famous by the poet Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, didn't happen that way at all says Blazer. Revere was riding a Narragansett Pacer, a hearty little horse—the most popular horse in America—at the time.

He was ambling along toward Concord with Sam Dawes to give the warning about the British. They met up with Dr. Sam Prescott who was on his way to Concord to court a young lady. They certainly were not in a hurry although Dawes left the group to warn occupants of a farm house of the British movement.

Four British soldiers captured Prescott and Revere. When Prescott saw an opportunity to escape he rode off into the night. Revere took advantage of the confusion which ensued and he rode off in the opposite direction — head-on into 6 more British soldiers and was recaptured.

Dawes, returning from the farmhouse, heard the sound of the soldiers, fled, but he fell off his horse and he, too, was recaptured. The British took Revere's horse for one of their sergeants and left Revere to walk home. Prescott, believed to be also riding a Narragansett Pacer, got to Concord in time to alert the community for the "shot heard 'round the world." Paul Revere finished his part in the historical event with tired feet.

Blazer has an article almost certain to anger horse people as he discussed the death sentence given to 18,000 horses in an attempt to eliminate Esuine Infectious Anemia (it didn't).

The dust jacket on "Horses" says you'll "learn something new and enjoy something old . . . it is unlike any others you've read before."

True. Actor John Wayne wrote a warm foreword to Blazer's book.

Every horse lover will enjoy reading "Horses." It is available now at better book stores in San Diego at $9.95 a copy.

Both programs allow students to strengthen language skills in both English and Spanish.

The Bilingual Office Procedures program is designed for persons interested in office work including entry level, intermediate, and more advanced clerical positions. The Bilingual Secretaries Procedures program is for persons who wish to work as secretaries or administrative assistants using higher level skills such as shorthand and communicative techniques.

Basic areas to be covered in English and Spanish include telephone and receptionist techniques, typewriting, business terminology, and letter translation. Other skills, such as filing and communicative machines will also be covered. Persons interested should enroll in Bus. 85A offered from 10-12 a.m. Monday and Wednesday; and Friday 10-11 a.m.

Classes begin Aug. 16, 1978. The College is accepting applications through Aug. 15 for Fall semester enrollment. Anyone interested in either program should enroll as soon as possible at the Southwestern College Admission Office, 900 Otay Lakes rd.

This Week's RECIPE

Cherry Dessert Nests

Northwest fresh sweet cherries are popular for eating right off the stem, but they are also great for creating luscious treats like these Cherry Dessert Nests. Sponge cake cups frosted with cream cheese and coconut are the nests for a spirited cherry sauce.

This same cherry sauce can be used another time to spoon over delicate crepes, or layer with ice cream in parfait glasses.

Northwest sweet cherries are on the market from mid-

June to early August. To make the most of this short season, use fresh sweet cherries whenever the menu calls for fruit. And freeze a supply while they're at their peak for use throughout the year.

Cherry Dessert Nests

- 2 cups Northwest fresh sweet cherries
- 1/2 cup water
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 2 tablespoons cornstarch
- 2 tablespoons water
- 2 tablespoons brandy, or 1/2 teaspoon brandy
- 1 3-ounce package cream cheese, softened
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 2 teaspoons lemon juice
- 1/2 teaspoon grated lemon peel
- 1 package sponge cake dessert cups (6 cups)
- 1/2 cup flaked coconut, toasted

Pit cherries. Combine cherries, 3/4 cup water and 1/2 cup sugar. Cook 5 minutes. Blend cornstarch and 2 tablespoons water, add to cherries. Cook, stirring constantly, until thickened and smooth. Add brandy. Cool.

Combine cream cheese, 2 tablespoons sugar, lemon juice and peel. Mix until smooth. Frost outside of dessert cups with cream cheese mixture, then roll in toasted coconut. No, not you, the dessert cups. Spoon cherry sauce into centers. Make 6 servings.

Camp Fire Girls Open Camp Wolahi

Camp Wolahi, the San Diego County Council of Camp Fire Girls summer resident camp, will open July 16 for 5 one-week sessions.

Openings are available in all sessions except the August 6-12 session which is full for children in grades 5, 7 and 8. Boys entering the 3rd, 4th and 5th grade in the fall are welcome to attend the July 23-29 session only.

Camp Wolahi is located 55 miles east of San Diego near Lake Cuyamaca and consists of 46 wooded acres at an elevation of 5,000 feet. Resident camp is open to all youths entering the third grade in the fall through seniors in high school. Their living accommodations and camp activities are geared progressively to individual age levels.

Sarah Vaughn To Sing With SD Symphony

Sarah Vaughan will guest star with the San Diego Symphony Orchestra during the "Summer of Stars" this weekend. On Friday the performance will start at 8 p.m. in San Diego State University's Open Air Theatre. Saturday Miss Vaughan will be featured in Rancho Bernardo's "Symphony on the Green" 8 p.m. series. Sunday the concert will begin at 5:30 p.m. on the UCSD — La Jolla campus.

Sarah Vaughan has garnered world-wide accolades for her versatility, which musically bridges all the generation gaps. Not only is she a consistent winner in polls conducted among the public, in addition she emerges on top in surveys conducted among her musical peers. For example, in 1974 she won out as "Favorite Female Singer" in the All-Star All Star poll conducted by Playboy Magazine, in which the voting was done by the top personalities in the music business.

She has been called by Tony Bennett "the greatest singer in the world", and Frank Sinatra once confessed, "Sassy's a singer who sings so good, I want to cut my wrist with a dull blade and let her sing me to death."

Reserved seat tickets for Sarah Vaughan's San Diego State appearance on Friday are priced at $10, $9, $8, $7 and $6 and are available at the Aztec Center Ticket Office and all Ticketron Agencies. Ticket information for Saturday evening's performance in Rancho Bernardo may be obtained by phoning 487-5515.

Tickets for Sunday 5:30 p.m. concert at UCSD-La Jolla are $6 for unreserved chair seats. $4.50 for adult blanket seating and $3 for student blanket seating. UCSD tickets are available at the Turntable in La Jolla, Kaleidoscope Gifts in University Towne Center, UCSD Events Office and Ticketron Agencies. ## Eyes on All-Stars

The Padres, who topped .500 earlier this week, will be looking to the All-Star break for a 3-day rest.

They will rest at home since the game, which is sold out, will be at the S.D. Stadium Tuesday. The day before and after the game are off days and some of the athletes need the rest.

But before that, the Padres will close out their San Francisco series Friday day game before moving on to Atlanta for a 3-game series.

Monday, those selected to grace the All Star roster will work out at the Stadium. The American League works out at 3 p.m. and the Nationals follow at 4. The Stadium will open at 1:45 with a variety of activities. Best of all, there is no charge.

A warning is also given. On Tuesday there is a probability of a giant traffic jam. Vehicles must average 3-plus persons each if all are to find a place to park. With the new bleachers in center and right fields, the Stadium will accommodate 50,000 persons.

The parking lot can handle 15,000 vehicles. Rec vehicles will be nudged into a single parking space. Even so, it is a good bet that some fans will be forced to park several blocks away. The game starts Tuesday at 6 p.m.

TAKE FIVE

by John E. Wirges

Nobody in their right mind would blame anybody for wanting to get out of Buffalo and apparently the Buffalo Braves of the National Basketball Assn. are as good as folks. It looks as if they really are heading for the warmth and sunshine of San Diego and the goodness of Peter Graham's empty Sports Arena.

Brave basketballers have long played second fiddle to the Buffalo Sabers of the National Hockey League in the turnstile dance of ancient War Memorial Auditorium, an old building shivering at the junction where Lake Erie's sub-zero winter winds turn north up the Niagara River.

To be second anywhere is not to be a winner, but to be second in Buffalo is intolerable to Braves owner John Y. Brown.

An ice-and-fight sport like hockey fits right in with the hardiness of Buffalo fans, who tend to work hard, drink hard and enjoy hardnosed sports action.

Buffalo is a blue collar and dirty fingernail town where anybody in a three piece suit is suspect and likely to be a hood, a politician, a lawyer or a combination thereof.

To winter in Buffalo is hardship. But to winter in Buffalo without love and a full gate is downright ludicrous, according to Brown and he gave semi-public notice last April 15th that he was pulling up stakes and leaving when he fired most of the front office staff. Fittingly enough, it snowed in Buffalo that day.

The folks in Buffalo were upset. For some reason they love their corner of earth's frozen hostility. They take pride in a snow fall that is measured in double digit yards. They are proud of "hanging tough" through seemingly month long blizzards where the chill factor drops the temperature to 50 degrees below zero for days on end and snow falls hard enough to bury street lights and traffic signals in a single night.

Buffalo folks do not ask for much in the comfort and happiness league. All they want is a couple of wins for the Buffalo Bills and maybe a ticket or two a year to the season-sold-out Sabers. In the spring and summer they take a bus ride once or twice a year to Cleveland or Toronto to see somebody else's team play a couple of baseball games.

They supported their basketball team until it became inept. Players were sold for cash but no replacement and injuries wiped out what was left.

Buffalo deserved better than they received from the semi-spoiled, absentee owner of the Braves. And he isn't even coming to San Diego.

Brown is going to escape the rigors of Buffalo winters by moving his interests to Boston. Strange fellow. He swapped the Braves for the Celtics.

And the former Boston owner, a gentleman named Irving Levin, who lives in Beverly Hills, is bringing the Braves franchise to San Diego.

It seems San Diego is a hotbed of basketball once again, even though our future was written off years ago when our dedication was sold out in the name of financial profit.

Burned once is fair warning. Twice would be stupid. Let the mayor proclaim and other front runners jump on the bandwagon. Let egotistic TV station managers editorialize about how we "owe" it to our town to subscribe to season tickets for this blatantly commercial enterprise.

I have nothing against Mr. Levin. In fact, I wish him well. But before we open our purse and poke to his transplanted basketball business, I would suggest we ask him to nail down the franchise with binding agreements and enough legal hocus-pocus to prevent him, or his heirs, or their attorneys from doing to us what has already been done to us before and is being done to Buffalo right now.

We don't ask him to move here. He can stay in Beverly Hills. Local ownership doesn't mean that much. Bob Breitbard was and is a local resident and that didn't stop him from selling out the Rockets.

We do want more than a handshake and a bunch of promises. We've had those before. And we remember how long they lasted in Buffalo.

Welcome to San Diego Irv. You'll find it's a nice place to do business. I hope you don't mind if it takes a while for you to earn our trust. You see, like the folks in Buffalo, we've been had before.

Muncey Takes Gold Cup no. 7

Fresh from a victory in the wind-tossed Detroit River, Bill Muncey, the world's winningest rooster-tail racer, captured his 7th Gold Cup Sunday at Owensboro, Kentucky on the Ohio River.

The La Mesa based speedster averaged 104.166 miles an hour in the 15-mile finale as he drove his Atlas Van Lines across the winner's line. He qualified at 128.388 miles an hour.

Muncey has won 47 unlimited races in his 25-year career. He has won all 3 races he entered this year.

Circus Athletes To Face Sockers

Clowns, jugglers, lion tamers, midgets, high-wire artists, and other assorted performers traveling with the Ringling Bros., Barnum & Bailey Circus Troupe will abandon the big top on Thursday, July 13, for an exhibition soccer match against the San Diego Sockers.

The special one-hour match begins at 10 a.m. at San Diego Stadium. Tickets are $1 each. All benefits go to the Muscular Dystrophy Assn. of San Diego County.

Following the game, the Sockers will conduct a free one-hour instructional clinic for youngsters attending the game.

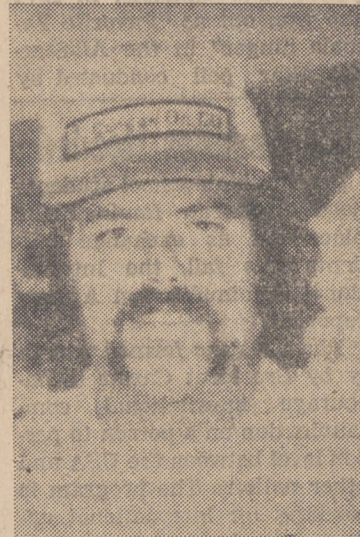

The Ringling Bros. Circus team often challenges the local pro soccer teams to exhibitions during their travels. Because many are of European descent, the barn-storming troupe has many skilled players and they have earned a creditable reputation in cities of the National American Soccer League.

Tickets will be available at San Diego Stadium, Gate H, on the day of the match. Doors will open at 9 a.m.

L.G. Driver Wins In S.V. Race Car

Lanny Pemberton of Lemon Grove won last week's 75-lap main event at Cajon Speedway, but the 31-year-old racer will be out looking for a ride this Saturday when the popular super stocks swing back into action on the 3/8th mile, paved Gillespie Field oval.

The easy-going Pemberton was subdriving 5-time champion Pat McIntyre's Camaro last week as the Spring Valley builder was taking a vacation. But McIntyre will be back behind the wheel this weekend trying to show that Pemberton's win was no fluke.

Race time Saturday night is 8 p.m. with qualifying for the expected 50 machines set for 6:30. The featured attraction will be a 40-lap main event with additional events including the 20-lap B main, 10-lap consolation, four 8-lap heats, two trophy dashes, a limited stock race and a men's destruction derby.

McIntyre, who has won 36 main events during his career with the El Cajon Stock Car Racing Assn., has only been racing part-time this year and has allowed Pemberton to take over the car when he is out of town. Pemberton is currently 8th in points while McIntyre is just out of the top ten in 11th position. Both drivers have won features this year.

McIntyre's win came on June 3rd and more recently he chased point leader Ron Esau to the checkered flag on June 24. But other than that the champion has had little luck this year.

His other finishes include a 9th, 10th, 16th and a 22nd when he blew a motor on June 17.

But McIntyre is not accustomed to finishing well back, so he must be counted on as one of the favorites Saturday.

Challenging him will be point leader Ron Esau of Lakeside, his father George, who is second in points.

GRAND OPENING — An open house 2-6 p.m. celebration is scheduled for the Auto Electrical Supply Co., at 552 La Presa ave., in Spring Valley Saturday.

The firm operated in San Diego on 30th street for 11 years before moving to the Spring Valley address. It specializes in auto electrical systems servicing wiring, generators, starters, voltage regulators and alternators.

In the photo above, Bob Westman, an electrical specialist has an armature on a lathe while Terri McClellan, who is the current Miss Spring Valley looks on. The public is invited to the open house.

Romero, Martinez Top Bullfight Card Sunday

Intense competition and plenty of daring are expected for the bullfight Sunday in the downtown arena, El Torero de Tijuana.

Matadors will be ace Manolo Martinez, popular Adrian Romero, with whom he has feuded, and teenager Cruz Flores. Beginning at 4 p.m. they will face bulls from San Antonio de Triana.

Martinez, 32, of Monterey, and Romero, 28, of Mexico City resolved their differences last summer, but the rivalry is still present. They had squabbled over selection of bulls.

Romero is probably the biggest crowd-pleaser to perform in Tijuana in many years. He is noted for his art, daring, and courage, in addition to his banderilla - placements, which often are reckless and always are exciting.

Since his Tijuana debut in 1971, Romero has been one of the top award-winners along the border. Last summer on August 8 he caused a huge controversy when he refused to kill a bull he claimed was too small to justify being fought by a matador de toros.

That bull, from the Las Huertas Ranch, was returned alive after the bullring judge gave Romero the required 3 trumpet warnings. Romero's next bull was so excellent, and Romero was so good with it, that the animal's life was spared.

Romero created another controversy September 11 when he removed his false pigtail to

Broomball League Takes to Ice Sunday

The National Broomball League begins Sunday a new season of 13 games at the La Mesa House of Ice. This season's games will be broom-balled weeknights 10:40-11:30 p.m.

San Diego's new co-ed sport of Broomball has expanded to a 24-team league with the help of the non-profit league's new commissioner, Bob Baptista.

Baptista's past experience as vice president of the Mariner's Booster Club should be an asset in the coordination of the league. This season's competition should be exciting as the teams are currently practicing weekly with the Pick-Up League enabling individual broomballers to come to the House of Ice and enjoy the sport.

Over-the-Line Play Opens On Fiesta Isle Saturday

It starts July 8 at 7:30 a.m. It ends at dusk. It is played 4 days including July 8, 9, 15 and 16. It's free. It's fun. It attracts world-wide attention.

It's the Silver Jubilee World Championship Over-the-Line Baseball tournament.

Thousands will crowd the playing area and most will react—one way or another—to the names team choose and have emblazoned across standard T-shirts each player wears. Some of the names are pretty raunchy. Nearly all are suggestive.

662 teams of 3 will play 1,329 games on 21 courts on Fiesta Island, Mission Bay, during the 4 days.

Crowds will top 20,000. More than likely traffic will be closed early on. Those who leave for cigarettes or telephone won't be able to get back.

Many cars won't make it to the island, but buses are provided. They'll leave from De-Anza Cove, the info booth near Hilton Hotel on 15 and from S. Mission all day.

The rules for fans are simple but strictly enforced. Beer and soft drinks must be in cans. Other alcoholic drinks must be in plastic containers. No dogs may be brought to the island during the games. Area Boy Scouts will police up cans (last year 199,000). Recycled aluminum cans pay for 150 youths attending camp.

In Over-the-Line each team in 5 divisions has 3 players. Team names are such that it acts as a deterrent for teevee coverage.

The tournament is sponsored by the Old Mission Beach Athletic Club.

But, best of all, it's free.

Letters to the Editor

Thompson's Rebuttal

Editor:

Regarding the letter from Mike Schaefer regarding his signs, it may be competent to shed the truth where Mr. Schaefer deftly skirts it.

I called Mr. Schaefer three times to ask him to remove the signs. I also called Mr. Crobarger and received instant cooperation. I also called Mr. Prantl and was answered in a civil manner and his signs were removed.

However, Mr. Schaefer first claimed to have never been to Lemon Grove and didn't know anything about the signs. This obviously irritated me as I reminded him he had personally delivered campaign literature to me in my business—all of a sudden he remembered.

Then he claimed it would take an hour to drive out here to remove the signs. I asked then, when could he remove them. He replied "Maybe never."

He suggested the chamber, interested in beautification (his words), would pull the signs down. I insisted beautification would include not allowing campaign signs in the first place.

His adamant attitude caused me to criticize the attitude of politicians asking the citizen to consider him responsible enough to hold a state-wide constitutional office should also live up to responsibilities of removing signs.

The problem began, of course, with various members of the business community calling me on the phone and coming to my business to complain of the signs left over after the election was long past.

It is not the chamber's business to yank down signs of irresponsible and thoughtless persons who care little for the community they enter. It is the business only of that person.

As Mr. Schaefer is so busy with other things, now that he has lost, and at his insistence, I walked by the store and removed the signs.

Not once did I threaten to "criticize" Mr. Schaefer, though it would be a good idea. And I could not intimidate a powerful attorney, ex-city councilman and well-respected politician.

For the life of me I cannot envision Mr. Schaefer cringing in fear of a small businessman trying to make some politicians responsible for their activities after an election.

If Mr. Schaefer offered a couple of bucks to a staff member to pull the signs down, I would never allow an employee to perform my work. He actually said "Take one of your minimum wage people... and have them tear them down and bill my campaign." He can't be serious!

The matter is closed. However, I do appreciate the opportunity to clarify Mr. Schaefer's obvious legal toe dance on the edge of veracity.

Olin Thompson
President, Lemon Grove Chamber of Commerce

HONEST WORK AND FAIR PRICES FOR 33 YEARS

ANOTHER DOROTHY HAMMIL? — There's a resemblance, but 9-year-old Colleen Wagner of 2526 Crestline dr. in Lemon Grove knows it's going to take more than a dazzling smile to come away with 1st place honors in the 1978 Junior Olympics of figure skating, today through Sunday at the House of Ice in La Mesa.

AAAAARRRRGGGGHHHH! — Strenuous warm-ups are a fact of life for even 9-year-old figure skaters like Colleen Wagner, who's been skating 3 years and has dreams of someday turning pro and/or teaching. Colleen said it took her "about 3 years" to get used to the cold of the skating rink, and "I couldn't count the number of times I've fallen down."

DOWN TO WORK — Smiling and stretching done, Colleen Wagner takes to the ice to start practicing for this week's 1978 Junior Olympics, hosted by the Harbor Figure Skating Club and sanctioned by the United States Figure Skating Association. Colleen's taken 2 first-place trophies and a third in 4 other competitions.

Cyclists Without Helmets Face Rising Toll of Death and Injuries

A growing number of the nation's nearly 6 million motorcyclists — and their passengers — are literally heading for trouble on the nation's highways and byways this summer, safety authorities warn.

Well-organized campaigns and public demonstrations protesting laws that require the wearing of safety helmets have brought repeal or weakened legislation in at least 22 states, and similar action is being urged in others, including New York.

Safety researchers report that the number of fatal and disabling head injuries has increased sharply in the states that have heeded the appeals of cyclists.

The Department of Safety and Research of the Combined Insurance Company of America has joined government and private groups in asking all cyclists, including some bicyclists, to wear safety helmets prescribed by federal authorities.

Joan Claybrook, administrator of the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, has asked that riders of motor scooters, mopeds and motorcycles wear helmets whether or not the laws of their states require them to do so.

She has cited studies made in states that have relaxed helmet requirements, noting that in Kansas there has been a 70 per cent increase in the number of head injuries since helmets were made optional cycling apparel.

Studies in Michigan and Illinois showed that those using helmets were one-third as likely to suffer head injuries. A preliminary report showed that in the year following repeal of Minnesota's helmet law, fatalities there increased by nearly 65 per cent, while motorcycle registrations went up only 5.7 per cent.

More than 3,000 people die and at least 350,000 are injured in motorcycle accidents every year, Combined Insurance reported. In 1974, the Safety Administration found, more than one-third of all the fatalities were registered in six states without fully effective helmet laws.

As of January 1978, 29 states and the District of Columbia required all motorcycle riders to wear safety helmets. Eleven other states required helmets only for those under 18 and one for those under 16.

Those who protest the mandatory use of helmets insist that they are being denied their constitutional rights to make their own decisions about their own bodies. They also maintain that helmets can cause head, neck and shoulder injuries and that they impair vision and hearing.

The American Medical Association concluded after a special study that there was no valid evidence indicating that helmets figured in such injuries.

CHANGE OF COMMAND — Joe Comella, left, new president for 1978-79 of the Spring Valley Rotary Club, is congratulated at a recent Rotary meeting by Dale Hobson, 1977-78 president. Comella works as inventory officer for the El Cajon Sears Roebuck and Co. store, while Hobson is assistant superintendent for business at the La Mesa-Spring Valley School District. The Spring Valley Rotary Club meets at 12:10 p.m. Fridays at the Ox Bow Inn, 9816 Campo rd., Spring Valley.

Ask Your C.H.P.

C.H.P. Capt. C. M. Douglas

Last time Capt. Douglas discussed accident reports.

If you have a question, no matter how insignificant it may appear to you, ask it. It could save your life — or at least save you a citation.

Address your questions to this newspaper, or call us at 469-0101, and allow several weeks for your question to appear.

This week's question: "Do I have to give a turn signal, if there are no other cars around?"

Capt. Douglas' answer:

The law states that no person shall turn a vehicle from a direct course or move right or left upon a roadway until such movement can be made with reasonable safety, and then only after giving the proper signal continuously during the last 100 feet before the turn, in the event any other vehicle may be affected by the turning movement.

You don't have to give a signal if you have a clear view and there are no vehicles in sight. It is still a good idea to signal anyway in case you missed seeing a vehicle which may be affected by your turning movement.

Answers for Veterans

Editor's Note: This column will appear from time to time, courtesy of the Veterans Administration Regional Office, 2022 Camino del Rio North, San Diego, CA 92108.

Q — I still have my mother listed as beneficiary on my World War II NSLI policy. In my will I have designated my wife as principal beneficiary and our children as contingent beneficiaries. Is this enough to allow my heirs to receive the insurance proceeds?

A — No. Wills cannot change beneficiaries named on VA life insurance policies. To change beneficiary designations fill out VA form 29-336 and return it to the VA insurance center where your records are located. The form is available at any VA office.

If the office is not convenient to you, write to the VA office where your insurance records are located, clearly stating your beneficiary designation and specifying the optional settlement of your choice.

Q — What is considered wartime service during World War II for pension benefits?

A — December 7, 1941, through December 31, 1946.

Q — What is the current interest rate on a VA guaranteed loan?

A — The current interest rate is 9 per cent.

Q — What do I have to do to get my service-connected disability increased?

A — Normally a veteran can reopen his claim for an increase in his service-connected disability by submitting current medical evidence showing his particular condition has worsened.

Q — I have had a permanent plan WWII National Life Insurance policy. My insurance needs have changed so that I no longer require as much coverage. Is a reduced amount available on which premium payments would no longer be required?

A — Yes. If you had a per-

Civil Suits Filed On Milk Rebates

Civil suits filed alleging secret rebates and unearned discounts to selected wholesale customers have been filed against four major independent distributors of milk and dairy products by the state Department of Food and Agriculture.

Director Richard E. Rominger announced the suits against the Southern California Distributors, Emanuel Distributing Company, Inc., F. & L. Enterprises, Inc., George Mott Distributor, and United Dairy Foods, Inc.

Rominger said discriminatory pricing is prohibited by law because it is disruptive to orderly marketing practices which are necessary to assure an adequate and continuous supply of fresh milk and dairy products to the consumer.

He added that permitting such discriminatory practices to go unchecked would allow monopolies to develop, bringing higher prices to the consumer.

The combined total of civil penalties sought against the distributors is $35,000. The suits will not raise the price of dairy products to the consumer.

manent plan and your policy is not lapsed, you may use the net cash value to buy a reduced amount of paid-up insurance which will continue in force during your lifetime (or the end of the endowment period) without further premium payments. The cash value of this paid-up insurance continues to increase. Also, you may surrender the paid-up insurance for its cash value or obtain a loan on it at any time.

A — Since the amount of a nonservice-connected VA pension is determined by a veteran's income, it is possible that VA pension may be reduced anytime income is increased. These adjustments to pensions usually occur at the beginning of each year.

Cattlemen Angered By Quota Relaxation

American cattlemen view with anger President Carter's recent decision to lower beef import quotas, the Agricultural Council of California announced.

The anti-inflationary measure will allow an extra 200 million pounds of imported beef to compete with domestic beef. Beef prices have gone up considerably as a result of inflation and a reduction of cattle herds.

The council reports that cattlemen "who are currently preparing for decisions about rebuilding their herds" might be discouraged by the President's action.

Oaxacan Weaving Master Demonstrates

The traditional Mexican art of Oaxacan weaving will be demonstrated at the Museum of Man each Wednesday through Sunday, 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. through Sept. 4. Gabino Jimenez will work at his giant looms, using skills taught to him as a small boy by his grandfather in his village near Mitla.

Since 1951, when he came to the United States, Jimenez has maintained his skills in carding, spinning, dyeing with vegetable dyes and weaving. On his hand-fashioned looms he creates small pieces (tapetes) suitable for hanging and rugs (tapas) as large as 7 x 9 feet.

Jimenez' pieces are unique in their clarity of colors, achieved by traditional methods and years of practice, using materials sent by family members back in Oaxaca.

Duffy Commends 2 Here

Two local people were commended by S.D. County Sheriff John Duffy recently—one for honesty and the other for helping to break an East County theft ring.

14-year-old Wade Palmer, of 1164 Jamacha lane, was cited for returning $3,900 he found lying in the middle of Sweetwater rd. in November in a leather case.

Dennis P. Kirk, an employee of Food Basket Market, on Campo rd. in Casa de Oro, described two thieves, noted their license tag number and helped to guide deputies to the suspects.

Young Palmer, riding his bicycle down Sweetwater rd., saw a camera case in the center of the road. Inside were 23-$100 bills, 14-$50's and 15-$20's. His first thoughts were that he might use part of it to buy a new bicycle. When he realized how much there was, he forgot about the bike and called the sheriff.

The owner had lost the money enroute to buy some pedigree dogs. He gave Palmer $250 as a reward and the youth bought his dream bike.

The sheriff in presenting a letter of commendation said that "Palmer's honesty in returning the lost money is a rarity in these times."

Dennis Kirk is reported to have seen two men trying to hide in a white Toyota in the Casa de Oro Food Basket parking lot about 3:30 in the morning. He notified the sheriff.

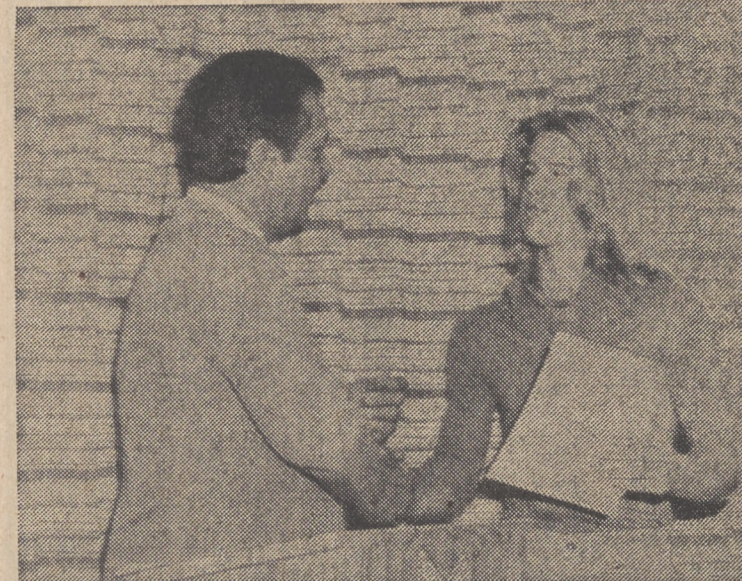

He made a mental note of the men's descriptions and jotted down the license number of the auto.

Deputies responding found two parrots in cages in the car but the men had gone. The men apparently had broken no law.

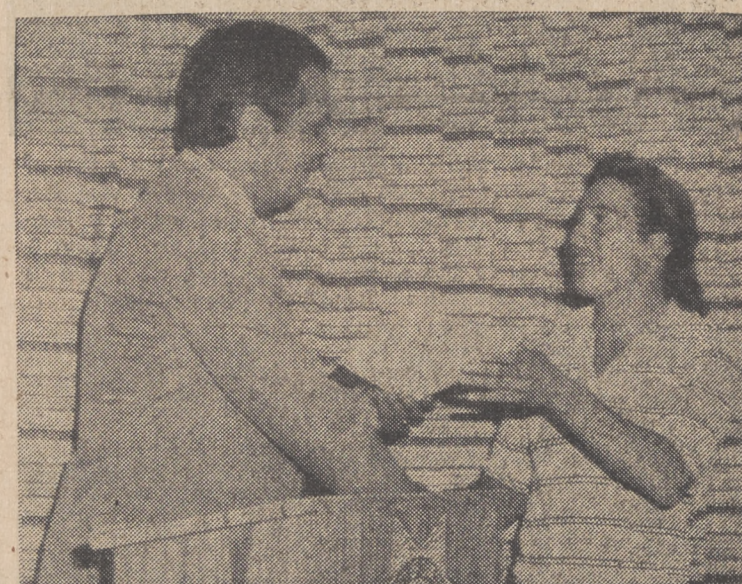

2 hours later Kirk noted the Toyota had been moved to a nearby pet shop and that the shop's front door was open. He again called the sheriff. Responding deputies found 2 young men who claimed they were looking for a lost wallet.

Subsequent investigation led the deputies to a motel room in El Cajon where parrots and other exotic birds worth approximately $4,500 were recovered. A third man was arrested with the pair and 15 commercial burglaries were solved.

The sheriff's commendation spotlighted key factors such as Kirk's foresight in writing down the license numbers and calling the sheriff which allowed the sheriff's department to make the arrests and solve the crimes.

Letters to the Editor

Reader Says Smut Best Segregated

Editor:

I always enjoy reading Max Goodwin's "The Dimmer View" on your front page and would like to comment on "The Sad Connection: Freedom and Pornography" which appeared May 25.

Whenever the discussion of pornography comes up, there is one side of the question which never seems to be raised—if there were no customers, there would be no blatant pornography!

Anyone who reads the Bible is aware that this so-called "oldest profession" has existed since time immemorial, and I doubt if it will ever be legislated out of existence.

I believe it would be a fatal mistake to initiate censorship of pornography, as human nature is such that censorship would only aggravate the situation.

For instance, in the old days prohibition against hard liquor resulted in bootlegging the stuff, and caused many additional problems. And once censorship starts, where does it end?

I am sure this situation can be controlled to a degree, and one way would be to keep it localized—contained, so to speak, in a certain area.

The solution which is being suggested by the Planning Commission of the City of San Diego has definitely not been very well thought out, as they are drafting an ordinance to disperse adult entertainment establishments by requiring that they be located at least 1,000 feet apart, with the result that the pornographic establishments would proliferate throughout the whole city.

That is certainly not the answer to the situation, as that would only make it more widely obtainable. It probably would be better to have it more or less segregated, as in the old days when prostitution was segregated in the "red light districts."

Museum To Train Naturalist-Guides

The San Diego Natural History Museum is recruiting naturalist-guides. Applications for a 10-week training course that prepares volunteers to lead tours through a 3 1/2 acre ecological preserve in Balboa Park are being accepted now, according to Dick Miller, chairman of the volunteer program.

The Florida Canyoners were organized in 1973 when a portion of Balboa Park was set aside as a native plant preserve for on-the-spot nature study. The course is organized and conducted by the museum's scientific staff and is under the direction of the Educational Activities Department. Subjects cover the plants, animals, insects, geology and general ecology of Florida Canyon. No previous scientific background is required.

Classes start Saturday, Sept. 16 and meet each Saturday through November 18 from 9 a.m. until 2:30 p.m. in the field or in the classroom. Graduates of the program are accredited to lead school and adult tours through the preserve. They will be expected to guide on a regular basis following completion of the training program on either a Monday, Friday, Saturday or Sunday. Additional instruction can equip a Canyoners to lead nature walks for the adult blind.

Those interested in making application should contact the Museum's Activities Department 232-3821 ext. 22. The training is open to both men and women and is offered free of charge. The volunteer program is on the approved field work list for the Department of Recreational Field Work at San Diego State University.

thru July 10.

Prepared exclusively for Home Federal by Rand McNally. One per family, please, while supplies last.

Find your way to new places in the sun with Western National Parks, a special limited edition from Rand McNally, published exclusively for Home Federal. Pick up your free copy at any Home Federal office.

This beautiful 72-page book takes you on a tour of 19 parks throughout the West, from Mt. McKinley to the Carlsbad Caverns. Narrator Michael Frome tells a uniquely personal story of his special affection for Western America's national parks. And the photographs bring you into the textures and colors unique to this part of our country.

Be an armchair traveler... or use it as a guide to planning a vacation to the natural wonders you've always dreamed of seeing. Remember, you won't find this book in any store.

Discover great new savings opportunities too! Available now at Home Federal are the new 8% and T-Certificates™.

you've been hearing so much about. Deposit $1,000 or more now for 8 to 10 years in one of our 8% accounts for a big 8.33% annual yield. Leave the principal and interest on deposit, and your money will double in 8 years and 8 months.

And our 26-week T-Certificate* always pays you a full quarter percent more than a 6-month treasury bill issued at the same time. And a full quarter percent more than any bank. For example, if the current rate on a 6-month treasury bill was 7%, our T-Certificate rate would be 7¼%. And this rate, when compounded for a full year, would represent a big 7.51% annual yield (if principal and interest were to remain on deposit at the 7¼% rate for one year). Just deposit a minimum $10,000. And there are never any service charges or fees to worry about.

Of course, we still offer all the high-interest savings plans we always have... at terms and amounts to suit your special goals and needs. Together, we can start planning for your futures in the sun today.

*Interest paid from date of deposit to date of withdrawal on T-Certificates. Check your local Home Federal office for the current rate.
